

What is Structured Water?

Structured water is water in nature.

If you take a gallon or ten gallons of water and pour it in a mountain stream at the top of the mountain and then collect it at the bottom, the water is naturally structured by nature.

The main contingent of structured water is life force energy, and that life force energy comes down to the water molecule itself. The water molecule has the power and the individual mandate to protect life. Its mandate is to protect us from things that are adverse to life and to generously provide the things that are good for life. What could the magic of Structured Water change in your life? We invite you to explore the possibilities.

How is water structured?

Natural Action Technologies brings you an innovative unit, which allows water to structure itself. The dance of the water through the unit in a repeating, geometric, double vortex pattern frees the negative memory and brings water back into perfect balance. Through the natural action of the water flowing through the unit, without filters or electricity, water is returned to its full energetic potential.

A Brief History

Clayton Nolte is a researcher and inspired inventor of life transforming water structuring technologies.

Clayton's life experiences have been in the realms of infinite possibilities. He spent much of the last forty years exploring physics, math and the properties of water, and the effects it has on life.

Natures own Structured water had the unique, recurring phenomenon of appearing where no water should. With an innate desire to emulate this for more-in-depth studies, Clayton delved into the inner world of water. Through that exploration, Clayton has discovered many innovative technologies, and has invented and is now manufacturing a full line of Structured Water Units. With his experience, accompanied by a group of passionate and gifted individuals, his mission is to form an alliance of discovery and together cross the bridge into the new paradigms for the future of water.

How Structured Water Benefits You

- Water that's alive and full of energy
- Increased oxygen
- Super hydration
- Increased absorption of nutrients
- The negative memory in the water wiped clean
- Greater sense of well-being
- Healthier skin and hair
- Eliminates itchy skin
- Reduces hard mineral build-up

How Structured Water benefits animals

- Healthier, happier animals with less stress
- Lowered rates of mortality with livestock
- Up to 30% reduction of water needed
- Increased nutrient absorption
- Less infections and disease

How Structured Water benefits agriculture

- Healthier plants with 20-40% increased biomass
- Increased Brix levels (more nutrients & sugars)
- Pest resistant due to plant health
- Up to a 30% reduction of water needed for watering due to super hydration

We stand behind everything we make...

- Lifetime Warranty
- 90-Day Money Back Guarantee
- No filters to change
- No electricity needed
- No maintenance
- High quality food grade plastic inside and out
